LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, -This beautiful thoroughfare, is crowded to-day, (Monday,) with beauty and fashion. The aristocratic side of this avenue (the North) is thronged, during the sessions of Congress and the Supreme Court, every day-but easant weather, such as we have to-day, (it is delightful,) it is crowded with all sorts of peoplethe rich, the gay, the thoughtless, the poor, the needy, the suffering-the honest and the dishonest—the upright and honorable—the five per cent. shaver and his victim—the loafer and the man of business—the hard-working mechanic—the idle and the vicious, the tippler and the drunkard, the gambler and the sharper, the employer and the pimp-all grades and shades of society are repre-

But it is about three o'clock in the afternoo that this noble avenue presents the most alluring and attractive scene. Then, the ladies, dressed in gorgeous apparel, encased in silks and satins, sur-rounded by crinofines and bound in hoops, vieing with the rainbow in richness and gorgeousness and splendor of color, come out for promenade, and from the Capitol, as far as the eye can reach toward the west, it presents to the view of the beholder, a living, moving, glittering, dazzling stream of human life, sparkling and scintillating in the rays of the sun, and flashing with the brightness emitted by the multitude of diamonds worn on bosoms fair and arms with bracelets crowned.

Could we give our readers a report of the conversations going on between the parties composing this motley throng, they would have no trouble in deciding which predominated there, the intellectual or the sordid—the moral and useful, or the giddy, the gay and worthless nothings thrown off at random, or studied and practised for this and Envy, pride, jealousy, vanity, we fear, are the prevailing concomit ants here.

Look at that lady-there-with that excessively flashy dress - " dressed to death " as the boys saywatch her. How easy it is to see, through all her assumptions of gentility and ton, that she is in a position which she cannot grace; that propitious Fortune has elevated her above the sphere in which Providence placed her, and which perhaps she adorned, to one which she cannot fill with dignity, and which cannot confer dignity upon her. She tosses her head, and vainly puts on airs. Listen, she is speaking—
"Well, I declare—do look yonder—do you see those girls there. It provokes me to death. Do you know them? See how they dress. It is a shame. They have no business here. I declare they are dressed as well as myself-the brazen things. Mechanics' daughters to dress in that way! journeymen, at that. Why, do you know that their father works in my husband's shop, and they work too, I am told, at folding sheets, when they can get it to do! What impudence!"

O Labor, how art thou maligned! Industry, how art thou despised! The ways of Providence are inscrutable. Up to-day and down to-morrow! The poor man of yesterday becomes the rich man of to-day, and the rich speculator, speculates himself poor again.

Why should the rich despise the poor-Why should the poor complain?" Who complains, old Butter Nuts. Not I-not I-nor I. As for these painted butterflies, it would be well for them to remember that "A butterfly, at best

Is but a catterpillar drest!" But what shall we say of the males! Why, that, like those of Uncle Sam, they are very irregular. Cigars, tobacco and rum! Shawls, moustaches, and imperials! Beards, ad libitum!

Nor sense nor wisdom lodges there-One staple product-hair, all hair-Redundant crowns, guanoed o'er and o'er Prolific soil, full of inhabitants, Who feelingly report themselves, adsum! Boys, now-a-days, are men, (sans brains, sans sense,)

Who strut the avenue at Dad's expense! "BUTTER AND CHEESE AND I."-Wife, this is miserable cheese, where did you get it? In market.

You might have got better without traveling so far, I think.

Well, well, never mind, husband, I'll buy better next time. How do you like that butter ? It is excellent. I have seldom tasted better Indeed, I do not know that I have over eaten bet tar butter. Where did you get it? Oh, in market. You get every thing in market, don't you?

Oh, no. I did'nt get you there, you know. That's a fact. But if I was not in the market, you were, you know, my dear.

Thank you. I trust you are satisfied with your bargain! Well, I don't know. Will you tell me where you bought that butter? I did not buy it at all! You tantalizing thing. Well, I have great satisfaction in eating it, and if you will not tell me where you got it, I'll vent my anger on the butter. I'll eat it all. Eat away, there's more where that come from.

I hope so! Nay, I will convince you. Sarah, bring that roll of butter here.

I thought I should. There's a secret about that butter, but if you will promise not to tell any body,

I'll tell it you! I promise, that I will not tell any body!

Well, now, listen. This morning, somebody knocked at the door, and when I opened it, lo and behold, I saw a bundle lying upon the door step, directed to you. I was afraid to touch it at first, fearing it might be - a - you know. Yes, yes. I know. You thought it might be a budgett of responsibilities? Well, I called Sarah, and she came and picked it up, and smelt it, and exclaimed, "why it is butter, I declare." So we brought it in and unrolled it, and tasted it, and pronounced it the best butter we have had in the house since you brought home that roll which you procured from that goodlooking little man, what's his name? Never mind, go on. Why, that's all about it, only this note came with the butter!

Let me see it. Well, I declare, its from PAX-TON, PARTON, you know, who stands in the upper market, about half way. You know Paxton, don't you?

Is he a good looking man, husband?

Well, no, I can't say that he is very good-looking, wife, but there is that about him which makes every body love him. He is an honest man, and sells butter as good as can be had in Centre Market, and this is a specimen of it. I'm very much obliged to him. Coming events cast their shadows before!

Reader, we promised not to tell any body about this, but as the thing is too good to keep, we comromise the matter by letting every body I ow where they can get good butter in the t. ... Market!

THE NEW HALL.—The new Hall her. ter to be known as "Gingerbread Hall" of the H use of Representatives, was lighted again on Satu lay evening. The mass of light thrown down through the stained glass ceiling is nearer that of day , the than any artificial light we have ever before s a; but to produce this the consumption of g enormous, and slightly expensive.

On Sunday divine service was performed in the Hall by the Rev. Mr. Cummings, on which e , msion it was filled nearly to its entire capacity. All the chairs in the Hall were taken long before the hour for commencing the services, and we re sorry to see many Senators and members of the House, and other distinguished personages, as well as ladies, old and young, unable to ob n seats. "Young America" was there before t n. We noticed, especially, one instance of ye g America's politeness and respect for age and tation. A boy about eight or ten years of age occupied one of the large chairs in the front i v; Senator Hamlin came in and could find no va nt seat; one of the messengers in attendance . . nt to the boy and asked him to give up that with he occupied; but no, "Young America" was of too much importance to defer to, or surrender his seat to any one, even a grave Senator. And we noticed, too, that he was encouraged in retaining his seat by a man and woman who sat on ei er side of him, and by looks of approbation t in them afterwards. An old man once entered a public assembl in thens, where were a company of Lacedemonia .; Young Athens" would not rise and give a d Athens a seat, but laughed and jeered at his parrasment; but when he came where the L demonians were seated, they all rose and paid in the respect of offering him a seat with the which produced general applause in the assen y. Some one then said, "the Athenians know we't politeness is, but the Lacedemonians practise; "

PROCRASTINATION.—The following scene of . rrowful repentance should induce all who read it, not to neglect-not to procrastinate-but to de it once all that is necessary to be done. Are going from home-are any whom you love at it to absent themselves from the place where ; fond eyes rested daily upon them? Are any si They may not return to you. Death may depi 'e you forever of their presence, and if you le neglected to procure faithful copies of their beloud features you will never again see them on eart

A father stood by the coffin of a daugh dearly beloved and tenderly reared. She d after a very short illness. The father hoped would recover, vowing that the instant she well enough, he would have a faithful copy of lineaments he loved to look upon. In health :beauty-not as now she lay, calmly sleeping . ; sleep of death-not distorted with pain and suf ing, did he wish to look upon her featuresin health, in youthful bloom, when she was hap when she so bewitchingly pronounced the name o father, and her eyes flashed with hope and delige t at his presence—thus he wanted to look upon l But it was now too late, she had departed. The will be discussions and reports on education matters, with addresses by Professor A. Dimit of this city; Richard A. Smith, of Alexande Virginia; Hon. H. Banard, of Connecticut, at George B. Emerson, of Massachusetts.

A Long Time to Wait.-In the middle the fifteenth century the Count of Logror was made prisoner by the Duke of Burgund He ransomed his life by the surrender of in mense estates, conditioned, however, that the should not be sold, and that after four hundre years they should revert to the heirs of the Count. For this long time the estates have been enjoyed by the heirs of the Duke, an the ultimate rights of the heirs of the Cour have been kept in view and recognized. Th four hundred years have expired, and the a rangements have been made for the transfer the property. The heirs of the Duke hav offered to pay 20,000,000 francs for a clear titl to the property.

GRUMBLINGS OF DISAFFECTION .- John W. Fo-GRUMBLINGS OF DISAFFECTION.—John W. Forney's paper, The Philadelphia Press, is very conditional reserved—very—in respect to Mr. Buchanan message. Its comments do not read like those of a hearty, earnest Democratic supporter of a Democratic Administration. It finds "much" in the Message in which it can "concur;" but it "respectfully repeats its objections" to the President's policy: "hopes" the President will not make a "test" of his policy; magnifies the "energetic unity" of the opposition; and avows itself as among those "who may differ in opinion" from the Presidence. those "who may differ in opinion" from the Presi

DOINGS OF CONGRESS. Nothing was done in the Senate on Monday except to announce the death of the late Senator Butler of South Carolina, which was eloquently done by Senator Evans, and in the House by Mr.

Previous to the annunciation in the House, the Speaker announced the standing committees. The Committee on the District consists of Goode of Virginia, Bowie of Maryland, Dodd of New York, Burnett of Kentucky, Morris of Pennsylvania, Wright of Georgia, Dean of Connecticut, Scales of North Carolina, and Ward of New York.

The death of Mr. Bell of New York, was yesterday announced in the Senate and House, and of course little or no business was done.

A State where there are no Banks. The Little Rock Demoract says that the Audior's Report shows that there is in the State Treasury nearly two hundred thousand dollars in gold and silver—more than enough to defray the ordinary expenses of the State for two years.

It shows that there is in the Treasury, for the purpose of reclaiming our swamp lands, more than one hundred thousand dollars in gold and silver. It shows that, of the State's indebtedness on count of the banks, there has been paid within the last three years, over one million and a half of dollars.

We clip the foregoing from the organ in chief of the Tennessee Democracy, which publishes it with evident gusto. Our cotemporary does not say so in so many words, but he plainly means to hold up Arkansas as a model State in its financial aspect, which other commonwealths should imitate. It is "a State where there are no banks," says he, and has in its Treasury "nearly two hundred thou-sand dollars in gold and silver"—a huge sum for a State larger than New York or Pennsylvania, to ossess, to be sare!

He doubtless designs holding up Arkansas as a fair specimen of a State, with an exclusively hard-money currency; and in this respect we think him correct. He and all other hard money advocate editors are welcome to all the comfort and argu-ments they can derive from it.

We breathe not a word against the people of Arkansas. But truth demands the admission that it is one of the States that have been demagogue-ridden most awfully. The war upon "banks" and the "aristocracy" has been fierce and prolonged. Democracy has been the talismanic word that was to work wonders; that was to make everybody it is make the mining ore jingle from the tree tops and beepangle the black, rich soil. What was meant by it was a little vague even to the leaders, except that part of it which related to the public "plunder." Of this they had a very clear on. The rank and file generally cluded it meant "down with rag money;" "down with the aristocracy;" "down with the tariff; 'down with college larnin;" "down with manuacturers;" "down with Nick Biddle;" and Genefacturers;" "down wi

Arkansas contains a superficial area of more Arkansas contains a superficial area of more than fifty-two thousand square miles, six thousand more than New York, and five thousand more than Pennsylvania. What but a good system of internal improvements, including a needful cur-lency, schools, manufactures, railroads, etc., was necessary to make her one of the richest, most than Pennsylvanis. What but a good system of internal improvements, including a needful currency, schools, manufactures, railroads, etc., was necessary to make her one of the richest, most populous, and consequently most powerful members of the Confedracy? Instead of this, she had in 1850 four inhabitants to the equare mile, the white population 209,000, while her vast mineral resources are wholly undeveloped. The large body of land given to her by Cougress for educapopulous, and consequently most powerful mem-bers of the Confedracy? Instead of this, she had in 1850 four inhabitants to the square mile, the white population 209,000, while her vast mineral tional purposes when she was admitted into the Union in 1836 has been squandered till it is dwindled down to insignificance, and nothing has been accomplished. But this is not all that a very hard money Demecracy has done for Arkansas. She has a funded debt of over three million of dollars, the interest of which, even is not paid! A model gold and silver State, truly! Arkansas has no banks, exclaim sundry journals in chorus. We believe the Indian Territory on the west of it has none. In fact, the Indian tribes never had any banks, or manufactures, or colleges, or tariff; never drew bills of exchange, and never asked for credit. Not they. In all these respects they were, and such of them as remain still are, more Democratic than even the fiercest Democracy of

> From the St. Louis News. The Political Revolution.

The Missouri Compromise, the sacred work of former patriots, was repealed, in the name of Democracy. It was repealed in order to let the citizens of the proposed new Territory of Kansas choose their own State institutions, which it was contended the Missouri Compro mise did not permit, on one subject at least. The nation was needlessly convulsed, but the Democracy had its way-the Missouri Compro nise was repealed.

Now, what is the result? Are the citizens of Kansas permitted to choose their own government? Netoriously, not. A State Constitu-tion is about to be forced on them, without their having the privilege of voting for or against it! And the President of the United States and his Cabinet-the heads of the great D. mocratic party-approve and sustain the

Thus does Democracy commit suicide in the face of the nation. It belies its professionsit belies its principles—and stands a confessed tyranny, before the eyes of the world. The gre t man of the American Democracy, Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the only man who could be found with the courage and ability to vindicate and accomplish the repeal of the Missouri compromise, now openly assails this granfraud upon the principles of his Nebraska bill. This renders Douglas hostile to the National Administration. He has been fondly styled the "Little Giant," by his party, in times past. He is the giant of his party, and he can crush he Administration. But Douglas will not be alone in his position Every statesman of ambitious hopes in the North, will go with him. And the schism beween the Northern and Southern Democracy will be complete. This winter will not pass away without seeing the so called "Na ional Democracy" rent in twain, and divided into factions with irreconcilable feuds between them.

A new government must spring up in this ountry. The Democracy, of the olden time, country. has lost its power and place forever. Thus the year 1857 will close with the most remarkable political revolution that has been seen since the eginning of the government.

nts from some eminent physi As a FAMILY PHYSIC.

Prom Dr. B. W. Carturight, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpase any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in thoir action on the bowels which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS. From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New Fork City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperiont, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of billious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

The confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDICESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Knox, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

Dysentery — Diarrhea — Relax. From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Prize have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhoa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION-WORMS-SUPPRESSION. From Mrs. B. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston. "I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanase the atomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other two periods "."

CONSTIPATION - COSTIVENESS. From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILIS for the cure of costioeness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although flad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costieeness to originate in the liver, but your PILIS affect that organ and cure the disease."

cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of inte years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DRAR DR. ATRE: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILES better than to say all that we ever treat with a purpositive medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILES afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

the disease. As time sikkes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of this afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peaces to the peaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet at contains, Cursuar Percorat, is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the hungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

WM. H. TENNEY, Georgetown. Geo'town, o28-8w. FIRE IL SURANCE.

THE MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of the District of Columbia offers to the property owners of the District the cheapest and as safe means of insurance against loss by fire as any other company, as will appear by an examination of its principles.

The fact that all of the Insurance Companies of the District are declaring large dividends to their stock; holders, at once shows the great profit on their premiums, and the consequent saving to persons insuring with this company.

The actual cost of insurance in this company the past year has been but nine cents on each $100 for irst-class property, and on other property in propor-

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE DISTRICT.

IN ENTERING OUR NEW BUILDING, WHICH we have just taken possession of, we return our sincere thanks to the people of Washington and Georgetown, for their liberal patronage, and we in part as a return have erected a Spacious Building, which will be an ornament to the city, with a lage
and airy Saloon, with all the convenience and comfort of our customers; and in the esiablishment are all the necessary arrangements for manufacturing and encouraging of Home Industry, and by a strict attention to justice and integrity, we hope to give satisfaction to all:

A T COST.—HAVING DETERMINED TO confine our business exclusively to the coach and cabinet branch of the trade, (including Bar Iron and Steel,) we offer our present stock of BUILDING HARDWARE, CUTLERY, AGRICULTURAL GOODS, &c., &c., AT COST, to close out.

All such goods must positively be sold, and if not entirely closed out by the 15th of December will be disposed of at auction, to make room for another class of merchandize.

An examination of prices will convince purchasers that on such goods there is chance for a good investment.
